Corrigendum

Paragraph 31

For the existing text substitute

31. The second output would be increased availability of sex-disaggregated population data by region. Key activities would include: (a) developing a framework for quantitative and qualitative national indicators in line with the Common Country Assessment and the UNDAF; (b) establishing a national population database, the data from which would be regularly updated and would be disseminated through a network of users and producers that would be created; (c) undertaking in-depth and specialized studies in priority population and development areas; and (d) undertaking data collection activities and surveys tailored to meet the needs of the proposed programme.
