Draft decision

Human resources development

The Governing Council

1. Takes note of the preliminary conclusions summarized in the Administrator's report (DP/1987/15) resulting from the analysis now under way of UNDP experience in HRD projects during the past three programme cycles;
2. Welcomes the steps already taken by the UNDP to identify and articulate the lessons learned from such experience;
3. Urges that additional studies be undertaken, including United Nations Development Programme accomplishments in respect to HRD and that appropriate quantitative information be incorporated in the final report;
4. Supports the proposal of the Administrator to supplement the desk review that has been undertaken with a series of visits to selected developing countries in order to assess the impact of completed and ongoing UNDP-assisted projects related to HRD;
5. Requests the Administrator to submit the full report to its thirty-fifth session (1988) in accordance with its decision 86/14 of 27 June 1986, providing a detailed critical analysis of the experience of the United Nations Development Programme since 1970 in the field of human resources development.
