FINANCIAL, BUDGETARY AND ADMINISTRATIVE MATTERS

ANNUAL REVIEW OF THE FINANCIAL SITUATION, 1989

Report of the Administrator

SUMMARY

The present document constitutes the Administrator's principal report on the financial aspects of the United Nations Development Programme and provides a comprehensive financial review of the activities financed from the United Nations Development Programme account during 1989 and of the financial position as at the end of that year and responds to decisions of the Governing Council described below.

The report includes estimates of anticipated resources and expenditures for 1990 and 1991, as well as information on cost-sharing activities, the status of the Special Measures Fund for the Least Developed Countries and of Special Programme Resources, the placement of United Nations Development Programme funds, the Operational Reserve, the utilization of accumulated non-convertible currencies and information on the UNDP integrated systems review project.

This report also provides information on agency support cost flexibility arrangements in accordance with paragraph 8 of decision 82/36 of 18 June 1982; the status of the Reserve for Field Accommodation and related matters, in accordance with paragraph 5 of decision 82/30 of 18 June 1982 and paragraph 2 of decision 89/57 of 30 June 1989; and management and other support services as per decision 83/5 of 24 June 1983.

The Governing Council is being requested, in paragraph 36 of the present report, for an increase in the allocation for rehabilitation from $650,000 to $2,200,000 and in paragraph 38, for continuation of the authority of the Administrator to overcommit the Reserve for Field Accommodation by up to $10 million. In paragraph 39, he is also requesting more flexibility with regard to office construction.

I. ANNUAL REVIEW OF THE FINANCIAL SITUATION

A. Overview of the financial situation

1. Income and expenditure

1. As has been the practice in past years, the Administrator provides the Governing Council, in this document, with comprehensive financial information on the activities financed from the UNDP Account. It does not include information on trust funds administered by UNDP, which is being provided to the Council in separate documents. In response to the Council's request contained in paragraph 1 of the annex to decision 87/1 of 17 February 1987 that basic statistical and financial data be provided to it for those trust funds which are not required to report in the current year, the Administrator has provided resource planning tables for UNCDF and UNRPNRE in the addendum of this document. Tables 1 and 2 below provide information on the status of the UNDP Account in 1989. These represent the unaudited statement of income and expenditure for the period 1 January to 31 December 1989 and statement of net assets and liabilities as at 31 December 1989. These can be compared with the forecasts for 1989 made in March 1989 and presented to the Council at its thirty-sixth session in document DP/1989/54. The results of 1988 are also provided for the purposes of comparison.

2. In addition, the Administrator presents in these tables his forecasts for 1990 and 1991. These forecasts represent the Administrator's best estimates as of March 1990. For this purpose, and as appropriate, the United Nations operational rates of exchange in effect as of March 1990 have been used in making projections of income and expenditure. Wherever necessary and appropriate, historical patterns and judgemental factors have been used in making projections of other financial elements.

3. Total income in 1989 amounted to $1,153.9 million and total expenditure to $1,206.2 million. This resulted in a net deficit of income over expenditure of $52.3 million, which is attributable to individual funds of the UNDP Account, as shown in table 3. As a result of the deficit of main programme income over expenditure, the balance of the general resources of UNDP decreased from $580.9 million at 31 December 1988 to $523.2 million at 31 December 1989 ($476.4 million if accumulated non-convertible currencies are excluded).

4. As shown in table 1, total income in 1989 amounted to $1,153.9 million, which was $71.7 million less than had been forecast. Income received from voluntary contributions alone was $938.2 million. After application of the accounting linkage for local office costs, income amounted to $932.6 million, which was lower than the forecast by $51.4 million. This resulted primarily from the impact of exchange rates on the value of pledges made for 1989. The fluctuations in exchange rates in 1989 impacted on UNDP resources in two ways:

(a) The value of pledges made in national currencies, in dollar terms, decreased by $58.6 million between 31 December 1988 and the date paid; and

(b) The value of assets held by UNDP in various currencies, including transactional gains or losses on exchange, decreased, in dollar terms, by $37.5 million.

The first impact is in part reflected in the lower level of pledges reported in 1989 for voluntary contributions. Part of the impact of the change was incorporated in reduced resource projections set out in document DP/1989/54. The second is incorporated in the miscellaneous income amount which was $4.3 million less than anticipated, including losses on exchange for the year of $37.5 million. The latter is more fully explained in section E below (paras. 19-24). Once again, most Member States paid in full during the year (over 96 per cent of pledges for 1989 were paid in 1989). The Administrator is most grateful for the efforts made by Member States in this regard.

5. The impact of exchange rate fluctuations in 1989 resulted in a minimal increase in the value of pledges over those received in 1988, 0.2 per cent, as opposed to an increase of 9.8 per cent from 1987 to 1988. It should be noted that in 1987 pledges increased by 11.7 per cent over 1986 (from $774.4 million in 1986 to $865.3 million in 1987). The Administrator has, of course, raised this in other documents and in consultations regarding the urgent need for substantial increases in voluntary contributions. The analysis for the past three years is summarized in table 4.

6. Total expenditures in 1989 amounted to $1,206.2 million, i.e., $38.2 million less than forecast, all of which is attributable to the shortfall in Programme expenditure of $45.4 million compared to the forecast. The major variances are explained in the analyses of the Programme in paras. 9-10 and paras. 13-18 below.

2. Net assets and liabilities

7. A balance sheet variance analysis for 1989 is presented in the boxed section of table 2. The balance of general resources of UNDP as at 31 December 1989 was $523.2 million as against a forecast of $565.3 million. The major reason for this decrease is that income from voluntary contributions in 1989 ($51.8 million) was lower than expected. This was partially offset by the fact that the level of IPF expenditure ($31.1 million) was lower than that forecast. If the balances held in accumulated non-convertible currencies are excluded, the balance of general resources is reduced to $476.4 million. This amount more accurately reflects the level of resources which the Administrator has readily available for expenditure purpose. Investments held on behalf of the main programme as at 31 December 1989 amounted to $640.0 million. Investments made on behalf of the Operational Reserve were $200 million, and for the Reserve for Field Accommodation, $25 million. The amount invested for supplementary activities amounted to $284.1 million. This was held on behalf of the activities shown in table 5 below.

Table 5. Investments as at 31 December 1989:

	(Millions of US dollars)
Unexpended resources for the SMF/LDC, cost-sharing, cash counterpart contributions and extrabudgetary resources	197.8
Trust fund activities	53.2
Management Service Agreements	18.1
Advances received in respect of Agency programmes	15.0
	284.1

8. The level of investments held by UNDP on behalf of the main programme, at any point in time, should be viewed in relation to the magnitude of the financial liabilities and commitments which UNDP has entered into. At 31 December 1989, these included: (a) $200 million recorded as other amounts payable, $105.2 million of which represent liabilities which will need to be met in the short term and (b) unliquidated obligations of the executing agencies amounting to $180.7 million, which will become due for payment during 1990.

3. Programme expenditures

9. Field programme expenditure in 1989 amounted to $897.6 million. Of this amount, $728.9 million represented expenditures against IPF (including $1.2 million of expenditures in respect of add-on funds), $60.8 million against supplementary programmes in the UNDP account and $107.9 million against cost-sharing. The details of expenditure by agencies and source of funds are shown in annex table 6. IPF expenditure in 1989 of $728.9 million, although $31.1 million less than forecast, represents an increase of 7.5 per cent over 1988 ($678.0 million). The increase in delivery, achieved for the fifth year in a row, is a reflection of a gradually ascending, planned expenditure pattern. It confirms that the ongoing actions to ensure an effective programme build-up have yielded the desired results. The continuing build-up of the beginning of the fourth cycle reaffirms the principles underlying the present programming strategy of the need to utilize all the liquid resources available to the Programme in a sustainable and organized manner. However, the 4.1 per cent shortfall in the IPF delivery compared with a target of $760 million can be attributed to two main reasons. First, it may be recalled that the delivery target for 1989 remained at $690 million until the Governing Council authorized additional IPFs by decision 88/31 of 1 July 1988. Of these additional IPFs, $245 million or 50 per cent were released for programming at that time. The expenditure target for 1989 was revised to $760 million, and field offices were informed of the new expenditure targets for each country in August 1988. The time allowed for the build-up of the 1989 programme may have been insufficient for expenditures to reach the new targets. Second, this reduction may also be partly attributed to the introduction of two-year budgeting and to some tightening up by some executing agencies of procedures regarding the recording of unliquidated obligations in response to comments made by UNDP external auditors. Nevertheless, delivery at $728.9 million continues the planned trend of gradually increasing IPF expenditures, which is expected to continue at least into 1990 and 1991.

4. Financial forecasts

10. Tables 1 and 2 above present, inter alia, the Administrator's forecasts of programme activities in 1990 and 1991. Members will recall that, in the report of the Administrator on the mid-term review of resources (DP/1990/7), the expenditure target for 1990 was established at $815 million. Following the Governing Council's approval, by its decision 90/3, of the release of the remaining 25 per cent of additional IPFs and SPR authorized in accordance with decision 88/31, the Administrator informed the Council that he intended to raise the expenditure target for 1990 to $840 million. In the light of the results achieved for 1989, it would appear quite difficult for the Programme to meet an expenditure target of $840 million for 1990, which is $111 million (15 per cent) higher than the 1989 expenditure. Furthermore, an increase in delivery to $840 million, even if achieved, might lead to programming difficulties later, as the expected level of available resources in future years may be insufficient to enable expenditures to continue to increase in a similar way. The original $815 million expenditure target for 1990 now seems to be more realistic and would permit the establishment of an expenditure target for 1991 of $860 million. These targets for 1990 and 1991 represent a continuation of the gradual increase in programme expenditure, on a continuously ascending path. Expenditure targets remain subject to constant review so as to ensure that the transition to future years will be smooth and commensurate with the projected availability of resources over several years.

11. As has been stated in the past, this gradual build-up of programme expenditure would lead to a reduction in the liquid resources being held by UNDP. At the end of 1989, the balance of UNDP resources available for programming amounted to $523.2 million. It is expected that a further substantial decrease in the balance of resources will occur by the end of 1990, to $397.9 million, to be followed by a further reduction in 1991, to $215.0 million.

B. Cost-sharing arrangements

12. Total cost-sharing expenditure during the year amounted to $107.9 million, exclusive of support costs. This is $1.3 million less than in 1989 and $17.1 million below the forecast presented in document DP/1989/54. Of this amount, $86.8 million was expended as recipient Government project cost-sharing; $3.7 million as recipient Government programme cost-sharing and $17.4 million as third-party cost-sharing. A major part of the shortfall is explained by the fact that the anticipated increases in cost-sharing contributions in 1989 for the Central America programme did not materialize. The reasons outlined with respect to the reduced level of IPF expenditure are equally applicable to cost-sharing expenditures.

13. Annex table 8 (a) provides a country by country analysis of the 1989 income from cost-sharing contributions and Annex table 8 (b) provides additional information on income received under third-party cost-sharing, a summary of which is as follows:

(Millions of US dollars)

Project cost-sharing by recipient Governments	81.1
Recipient Government programme cost-sharing	0.5
Third-party cost-sharing	37.1
Total	118.7

14. Table 6 below summarizes the movement in the balances of cost-sharing contributions held by UNDP in 1989.

Table 6. Status of cost-sharing contributions held by UNDP in 1989

	(Millions of US dollars)
Balance as at 31 December 1988		127.4
Cost-sharing income during 1989	118.4
Cost-sharing expenditure during 1989	(107.9)
Support cost thereon	(8.8)	(116.7)
		1.7
Transfer between resources		0.2
Increase in balance held		1.9
Balance as at 31 December 1989		129.3

15. It is more difficult to give an accurate forecast of cost-sharing expenditures than of IPF expenditure, as these expenditures are dependent on the incidence of cost-sharing contributions received. In the absence of a firm indication at this time that major cost-sharing payments will be received in 1990 for the Central America programme, only $115 million in expenditures for these two years are anticipated.

C. Special Measures Fund for the Least Developed Countries

16. The balance of resources for this Fund as of 31 December 1989 was $40.3 million. An additional amount of $15.2 million was pledged and paid during 1989. The expenditure for 1989 amounted to $12.0 million. The balance of resources available as at 31 December 1989 was $43.6 million. The main reason for the growth in the balance of resources of the Fund is that it is managed on a fully funded basis. This means that funds are released for programming only after they have been received by UNDP and that the entire budgeted amount must be reserved for each project. At the beginning of this year, a consultant was asked to review this programming modality and to advise on the feasibility of introducing a partial funding system. The consultant concluded that since the Fund consisted of a limited number of donors, implementation of a partial funding system would not be an appropriate option, but that consideration could be given to some modification to the existing procedures to facilitate project approvals. Therefore, bearing in mind the high level of available resources in this Fund, the Administrator proposes that he release 90 per cent of the amount of pledges for programming soon after the formal pledges are made, the remaining 10 per cent to be released upon payment of all contributions. This will enable earlier programming of resources, which should result in a higher level of expenditures.

D. Special Programme Resources

18. Expenditures under the SPR have been increasing substantially in the past few years - from $11.1 million in 1987 to $20 million in 1988 and to $34.1 million in 1989. The 1989 expenditure represents a 70 per cent increase over 1988 and more than triple the 1987 expenditure level. SPR resources, which were increased by $110 million in decision 88/31, have made this increase in the expenditure level possible. Document DP/1990/8, prepared for the special session of the Governing Council in February 1990 provides additional details, both narrative and tabular, on the status of allocations and commitments against the SPR.

E. Placement of UNDP funds

19. For the financial year 1989, the return on UNDP investments was $64.5 million (6.0 per cent). This resulted from interest earnings of $102.0 million (9.5 per cent) less an amount of $37.5 million (3.5 per cent) in the value of funds held by UNDP as a result of changes in exchange rates during 1989. This compares to a total return for 1988 of $76.7 million (7.1 per cent), of which $87.2 million (8.1 per cent) was from interest earnings and a $10.5 million loss (1.0 per cent) from revaluation of funds held by UNDP.

20. Interest rates in the United States moved upward in the first quarter of 1989, but then began a decline over the balance of the year, while interest rates in Europe and Japan generally rose, contributing to the overall increase in interest income to UNDP. The dollar strengthened substantially over the first half of 1989 before weakening somewhat during the second half of the year. Even so, it finished the year at a higher level than it began. This strengthening of the dollar resulted in the overall depreciation in the dollar value of non-dollar funds held by UNDP over the course of the year.

21. As in the past, UNDP exchange results can be attributed to the following four sources:

(a) Non-dollar holdings in the Operational Reserve, which are invested in a basket of currencies;

(b) Currencies held by UNDP in the currency of payment of the pledge for utilization in those currencies for operational purposes;

(c) Holdings of accumulated non-convertible currencies; and

(d) Realized gains or losses on exchange resulting from conversion of currencies in accordance with operational needs.

The analysis of the total return in 1989 is as shown in table 8 below:

Table 8. Analysis of total returns

(Millions of United States dollars)

	1988	1989

Total return	76.7	64.5

22. It should be noted that the exchange adjustment arising from the devaluation of currency holdings indicated above can be considered to be of a "book" nature to the extent that national currencies received are spent in that currency. As the United States dollar value of the funds held by UNDP in other currencies depreciates, the United States dollar value of expenditures in those currencies also decreases.

23. Investments placed for the benefit of developing countries amounted to $57.8 million as at 31 December 1989 as compared to $34.9 million as at 31 December 1988. These investments were held primarily in World Bank bonds, the proceeds of which are used for the benefit of developing countries. The bonds constitute a portion of the UNDP Operational Reserve.

24. Details of all investments held by UNDP, other than those held within the Reserve for Field Accommodation are provided in annex table 7.

F. Status of the Operational Reserve

25. The Operational Reserve is currently funded at $200 million. The composition of the Operational Reserve as at 31 December 1989 is shown in the analysis of investments as at 31 December 1989 (annex table 7).

26. With respect to the level of the Operational Reserve, the Administrator is required under Financial Regulation 12.2 to maintain reserves at levels established by the Governing Council. In decision 88/45 of 1 July 1988, the Council suspended the implementation of a formula as the basis for establishing the level of the Operational Reserve and decided to maintain it at a level of $200 million on a fully funded basis during the fourth cycle. At present expenditure levels, the level of the reserve represents approximately two months disbursements. When the reserve was originally established, it was intended to provide three months cash requirements. The retention of $200 million during the fourth cycle has not posed a problem in light of the liquidity position of UNDP. As projected in table 2, the Administrator expects this position to change significantly over the balance of the cycle and in the fifth cycle. The Administrator is proposing a slight modification to the existing formula for calculating the level of reserve, details of which are contained in the report of the Administrator on preparations for the fifth cycle (DP/1990/43).

G. Utilization of accumulated non-convertible currencies

27. UNDP holdings of accumulated non-convertible currencies amounted to $46.8 million as at 31 December 1989. This balance, as indicated in annex table 1, represents a net increase of $1.4 million from 31 December 1988, the result of:

	(Millions of US dollars)
Excess of receipts over disbursements	4.0
Less: revaluation of holding as a result of exchange rate changes	(2.6)
	1.4

Given the level of 1990 pledges and assuming constant exchange rates, it is projected that the holdings of these currencies will amount to $51.4 million at 31 December 1990.

28. As in last year's report, the balance of roubles held in the Trust Fund for the Training in the USSR of Specialists from Developing Countries has been excluded from this presentation. The roubles held for this Trust Fund are reported separately in the balance sheet (table 2).

II. AGENCY SUPPORT COSTS: FLEXIBILITY ARRANGEMENTS

29. In accordance with Governing Council decision 81/40 of 30 June 1981, executing agencies whose annual delivery does not exceed $15 million are eligible for support-cost flexibility. UNDP arrangements relating to reimbursement of support-cost flexibility are contained in detailed guidelines issued by the Administrator in January 1982 and appended to his report on support-cost flexibility arrangements (DP/1982/93) submitted to the Council at its twenty-ninth session (1982).

30. Annex table 2 shows a comparison of forecast and actual amounts relating to delivery of UNDP-financed projects and associated support costs for the six agencies eligible for support-cost flexibility in 1989. The forecast of approximately $5.9 million for total support-cost reimbursement to these agencies was based on detailed data submitted by agencies early in 1989 for that year. By comparison, actual reimbursement for 1989, on a provisional basis, amounted to approximately $5.8 million and represents an average of 18 per cent of project expenditures for these agencies.

31. Estimates of 1990 project expenditures and related support-cost reimbursements for agencies likely to be eligible for flexibility are provided in annex table 3. The table also shows a breakdown of the estimated 1990 total support-cost reimbursements as between the standard 13 per cent rate and the flexibility portion. For these agencies, taken as a group, UNDP is expected to provide support costs at an average of 18 per cent of estimated project expenditures, as compared with the standard 13 per cent for agencies under the normal arrangements. The table further indicates that the reimbursement to these agencies, including flexibility payments, is expected to finance an average of 51 per cent of the total costs which agencies expect to incur in support of UNDP-financed projects. The remaining 49 per cent will be met by agencies from sources other than UNDP.

III. RESERVE FOR FIELD ACCOMMODATION AND RELATED MATTERS

32. The status of the Reserve for Field Accommodation as at 31 December 1989 is presented in annex tables 4 (a) and 4 (b). The total of reserve funds disbursed less repayments as at 31 December 1989 was $9,997,985, consisting of:

	US dollars
Balance of outstanding loans	5 030 655
Work in progress	3 885 434
Household Appliances Rental Scheme	717 661
Repairs and rehabilitation	364 235
	9 997 985

33. Work in progress consists of construction of UNDP office and housing accommodation under either investment or government loan modalities. The sum of $5,920,000 has been committed as loans to Governments and $10,250,000 for direct UNDP investment. An additional amount of $2,795,000 has been committed on the above loans and commitments to cover cost-overruns and finishing and landscaping of both offices and housing units. From these commitments, $3,885,434 has been disbursed, leaving the balance of commitments at $15,079,566. As at 31 December 1989, agreements awaiting signature amounted to $5,800,000 for loans and $2,950,000 for UNDP investment.

34. Because of the revolving nature of the Fund, an amount of $925,000 is expected to flow into the Fund by the end of 1990 from rental income on housing and offices. Rental income under the Household Appliances Rental Scheme is indicated below.

35. The Household Appliances Rental Scheme, under the authority granted in paragraph 5 of Governing Council decision 87/42 of 19 June 1987, also operates as a revolving fund to purchase appliances which are rented to eligible UNDP and UNFPA international staff members. As at 31 December 1989, a total of $776,743 has been spent to purchase 123 stoves, 127 refrigerators, 121 freezers, 238 air-conditioners and 56 generators in a total of 41 countries. A rental income of $51,055 has been received in respect of these appliances; proceeds from sales of idle appliances amounted to $9,725; repairs and maintenance of existing appliances amounted to $1,698, resulting in net outgoings of $717,661 against the authorized level of $750,000.

36. Under the authority granted in paragraph 6 of Governing Council decision 88/45 of 1 July 1988, work has commenced on rehabilitation of housing units, for which net expenditures amounted to $364,235 against a commitment of $650,000. The Administrator proposes to increase this amount to $2,200,000 in order to allow for the rehabilitation of additional units in Tanzania, Lesotho and Guinea during 1990.

37. In summary, outstanding loans, actual disbursements for existing construction loans, the Household Appliances Rental Scheme and housing rehabilitation amounted to $9,997,985 as at 31 December 1989. Existing commitments on works in progress is $15,079,566, agreements awaiting signature total $8,750,000, commitment on ongoing rehabilitation of housing units is $1,835,765, and the Household Appliances Rental Scheme commitment reflects a balance of $32,339.

38. It will be recalled that in paragraph 4 of its decision 89/57, the Governing Council authorized the Administrator to overcommit the Reserve for Field Accommodation by up to $10 million, including existing commitments, until June 1990, while ensuring that funds disbursed from the reserve do not exceed $25 million at any time. An analysis of cash flow indicates that at the present level of commitment no deficit will occur in the reserve until 1993 and even at that time it will be in the range of $2 million. The Administrator does not wish to make a recommendation to increase the reserve at this time. He would, however, wish to maintain the authority to overcommit the reserve by $10 million while ensuring that disbursements do not exceed $25 million. He will continue to monitor cash flow and make appropriate recommendations when required.

39. The Council may recall that in paragraph 7 of decision 86/42 the Administrator was authorized to engage in the purchase and construction of housing in a prudent manner in line with the authority granted to him in decision 82/30 of 18 June 1982. Recently, UNICEF established a revolving fund similar to the Reserve for Field Accommodation. However, unlike UNDP, which can construct common premises only through loans to Governments, UNICEF can construct common premises through direct purchase. Under the policy established by JCGP, UNICEF, WFP, UNFPA and UNDP are required to take joint decisions relating to common premises and services in the field. To ensure consistency with JCGP and to facilitate consultations with respect to the construction of common premises, the Administrator is requesting that the same flexibility granted under decision 86/42 with regard to housing be applied to office construction. In other words, UNDP, like UNICEF, should engage in the purchase and construction of office premises in a prudent manner, where appropriate.

40. Finally, the above figures do not include requests for the construction of office premises in Bangladesh, Brazil, Barbados, El Salvador, Haiti, Nigeria, Pakistan, Zaire and Zimbabwe. The construction of office premises in these countries is estimated at $33 million. The Administrator has recognized, however, that these requests cannot be accommodated under the Reserve for Field Accommodation. Instead, possibilities are being explored to obtain financing from the private sector under an arrangement whereby the Governments will donate land to UNDP which, in turn, will lease the land to financiers to construct the office premises which will be leased to UNDP on a long-term basis. At the end of the lease, ownership will revert to the agencies of the United Nations system operating in the country. The office space, thereafter, will be rent free except for future maintenance, which will be pro-rated according to the space occupied by each agency with UNDP responsible for the management of the office premises.

41. The Administrator intends to report to the Governing Council at its thirty-eighth session (1991), by which time negotiations on this modality will have progressed.

42. The Governing Council, by paragraph 2 of its decision 89/57 of 30 June 1989, asked UNDP to advise the Council on the results of consultations in respect to Common Premises. In accordance with the request of the Council, the following two paragraphs have been submitted through ACABQ.

43. The JCGP Sub-Group on Common Premises and Services, chaired by the Director, Division for Administrative and Management Services, has been meeting regularly and a report was forwarded to the JCGP meeting in November of last year. In addition, the terms of reference on common premises and housing for the sub-group were unanimously adopted at this meeting.

44. On matters of common premises and housing, this sub-group meets actively to co-operate in regard to common services and spatial needs in accordance with JIU standards. At the JCGP general meeting in November, it was also reported that progress had been made with regard to possible alternative sources of funding, especially because of the limited resources available to JCGP organizations. The meeting encouraged the sub-group to continue to study proposals from private corporations to construct common premises and lease them to JCGP agencies with the option of ownership reverting to the United Nations agencies when the cost had been fully paid for. Other creative financing mechanisms are being pursued. For example, in the case of Brazil, negotiations are now under way on the possibility of IFAD utilizing its non-convertible Brazilian cruzeiros to construct common premises and lease them to the United Nations system with the option of ownership reverting to the agencies participating in the lease once the construction cost has been paid off.

IV. MANAGEMENT AND OTHER SUPPORT SERVICES

45. Governing Council decisions 83/5 of 24 June 1983 and 84/35 of 29 June 1984 authorized the Administrator to provide, at the request of recipient Governments, management and other support services. After reviewing the report on the experience gained in the provision of management services (DP/1988/59), the Governing Council adopted decision 88/54 of 1 July 1988, which authorized OPS to continue to provide these services, given the favourable results that had been attained.

46. UNDP is providing management services under agreements categorized by four sources of funding: loans from IFAD, loans from the World Bank and IDB funding from recipient countries and bilateral funding. The growth in expenditures from all four categories of funding over the last five years (including IFAD drawdown) has been dramatic, rising from almost $18 million in 1984 to over $120 million in 1989. As of the end of 1989, there were 128 existing agreements with aggregate budgets totalling $387 million.

47. Excluding IFAD, the value of management services agreements entered into during 1989 totalled $64.9 million, compared with $48.3 million in 1988. Eleven of these new management services projects were under World Bank funding, and another 10 were under bilateral funding from three Governments. A summary of the agreements entered into under funding from development banks, recipient and bilateral donors during 1989 is provided in table 10 (a).

48. At the end of 1989, UNDP was supervising project activities for recipients of IFAD loans and grants from the Belgium Survival Fund, with project budgets totalling over 425 million SDR, approximately equivalent to $555 million, for 57 projects in 40 countries. The increase during 1989 over the total loan/grant amount in 1988 was 132 million SDR.

49. As requested in Governing Council decision 88/54 of 1 July 1988, a full report on the status of management services is being submitted to the Governing Council at its current session (DP/1990/67).

V. UNDP SYSTEMS REVIEW

50. The Governing Council may recall that, in document DP/1989/55, the Administrator reported that UNDP was embarking on a comprehensive review of its financial and administrative systems. Although the main thrust of this evaluation consists of the financial systems, it includes personnel, travel, procurement and housing systems for both headquarters and the field. At present a detailed Integrated Management Information System plan is being prepared by the United Nations and consultations are taking place between the United Nations and UNDP to ascertain the feasibility of developing a common system.

51. The Integrated Management Information System plan is expected to be completed by October 1990 and the administrative systems review project of UNDP is expected to be concluded at approximately the same time. Based on the results of these reviews and bearing in mind the comments made above, the Governing Council will be advised at its special session in February 1991 of the possibility of a common computerized systems project. The Administrator may put forth proposals to the Council at that time as to the future direction of such a project.
